

A person behavior is usually attributed to external causes when all but one of the following conditions exist:

A person behavior is usually attributed to external causes when all but one of the following conditions exist:

- A. Others act in the same way
- B. The person acts the same way at other times
- C. The person acts differently in other situations
- D. The person seems aware of the environment