

According to an early definition that kind of management which conducts a business or affairs by standards established by facts or truth gained through systematic observation experiments or reasoning is known as?

According to an early definition that kind of management which conducts a business or affairs by standards established by facts or truth gained through systematic observation experiments or reasoning is known as?

- A. Classical management
- B. Bureaucratic management
- C. Neo-classical management
- D. Scientific management