_____ sir asks a question, we won't answer.

A. When
B. Unless
C. If
D. Hardly

Show Answer…
Correct Answer: B (Unless)

Explanation:

The conjunction "unless" is used to mean 'except if'. It introduces a condition that must be met for the main clause to happen.

In this context, the correct answer is B, "Unless," because it introduces the condition that if sir asks a question, we won't answer. The sentence implies that answering the question is dependent on sir asking it in the first place.

Option A, "When," is not the correct answer because it does not introduce a condition and does not convey the same meaning as "unless."

Option C, "If," is also not the correct answer because it is not the appropriate word to use in this sentence. "If" can be used to introduce a condition, but it is not the intended meaning in this context.

Option D, "Hardly," is not the correct answer. "Hardly" means barely or scarcely and does not fit the context of the sentence.

In summary, the correct answer is B, "Unless," as it properly introduces the condition in the sentence.

Choose the appropriate word to complete the sentence: _____ sir asks a question, we won't answer.
