

During which age did the nomadic way of life start to transition into settled communities?

During which age did the nomadic way of life start to transition into settled communities?

- A. Paleolithic Age
- B. Mesolithic Age
- C. Neolithic Age
- D. Iron Age

Show Answer

Correct Answer: C (Neolithic Age)

Explanation:

The Neolithic Age, also known as the New Stone Age, began around 10,000 BCE and is characterized by the development of agriculture and the domestication of animals. This allowed humans to settle in one place and build permanent communities instead of constantly moving from place to place in search of food. The transition from a nomadic way of life to settled communities was a significant turning point in human history and paved the way for the development of civilization.
