

For Durkheim, there is no society that is not confronted with the problem of criminality.

For Durkheim, there is no society that is not confronted with the problem of criminality.

- A. True
- B. False