

What is the national dish of Pakistan?

- A. Biryani
- B. Nihari
- C. Kebab
- D. Haleem

Show Answer...

Correct Answer: B (Nihari)

Explanation:

The national dish of Pakistan is Nihari.

Option A, "Biryani," is a popular rice dish in Pakistan but it is not the national dish.

Option C, "Kebab," refers to a variety of grilled or skewered meat dishes enjoyed in Pakistan, but it is not the national dish.

Option D, "Haleem," is another popular Pakistani dish made with meat, lentils, and spices, but it is not the national dish.

The National Dish of Pakistan: Nihari

Therefore, the correct answer is B, "Nihari," which is widely recognized and celebrated as the national dish of Pakistan. Nihari is a rich and flavorful slow-cooked stew made with beef or lamb and is traditionally enjoyed as a special meal or for breakfast.

Discover Other National Symbols of Pakistan in detail for MCQs All kinds of Tests

---

Pakistan, a land rich in culture and heritage, proudly boasts a collection of national symbols that represent its identity. From the majestic national animal to the fragrant national flower, each symbol holds significance and serves as a testament to the country's natural beauty and cultural heritage. In this article, we will delve into the national bird, national animal, national fruit, national dish, and national flower of Pakistan, shedding light on their importance and highlighting the pride they evoke.

1. The National Bird of Pakistan: Chukar

The Chukar, scientifically known as Alectoris chukar, proudly claims the title of the national bird of Pakistan. This medium-sized game bird is found in the rocky terrains of the country's northern regions. With its distinctive plumage of gray and brown, the Chukar represents the rugged landscapes and resilience of Pakistan. Its melodic call echoes through the valleys, adding a touch of natural melody to the country's enchanting environment.

2. The National Animal of Pakistan: Markhor

Graceful and majestic, the Markhor stands tall as the national animal of Pakistan. This magnificent wild goat, scientifically known as Capra falconeri, inhabits the mountainous regions of Pakistan. With its magnificent twisted horns and regal stature, the Markhor symbolizes strength, agility, and perseverance. Revered for its majestic beauty and cultural significance, it serves as a proud emblem of Pakistan's wildlife heritage.

3. The National Fruit of Pakistan: Mango

Succulent, juicy, and bursting with flavor, the Mango holds the esteemed title of the national fruit of Pakistan. Known for its sweet aroma and delectable taste, the Mango represents abundance, fertility, and the richness of Pakistan's agricultural resources. The country's diverse climate and fertile soil provide the perfect conditions for cultivating a variety of mouthwatering mango species, making it a cherished fruit among locals and a symbol of Pakistan's agricultural wealth.

4. The National Dish of Pakistan: Nihari

When it comes to culinary delights, the national dish of Pakistan is none other than Nihari. This rich and aromatic slow-cooked stew is a favorite among Pakistanis, renowned for its flavorful blend of spices and tender meat. Nihari showcases the culinary expertise and cultural diversity of the nation, with various regional variations adding their unique touch. It represents the passion for gastronomy and the spirit of togetherness that revolves around shared meals in Pakistan.

5. The National Flower of Pakistan: Jasmine

Delicate, fragrant, and elegant, the Jasmine holds the distinction of being the national flower of Pakistan. Known for its enchanting aroma and pristine white petals, the Jasmine symbolizes purity, simplicity, and hospitality. This exquisite flower is an integral part of Pakistani traditions, adorning women's hair during celebrations and filling the air with its sweet fragrance. The Jasmine represents the warm hospitality and grace that defines the people of Pakistan.

Conclusion:

The national symbols of Pakistan reflect the country's natural beauty, cultural diversity, and rich heritage. From the Chukar, representing resilience, to the Markhor symbolizing strength, each symbol holds a special place in the hearts of Pakistanis. The Mango embodies abundance, Nihari showcases culinary excellence, and the Jasmine represents purity and hospitality. Together, these symbols form a mosaic that represents the pride and spirit of Pakistan, connecting its people to their roots and uniting them under a shared national identity.

Consider linking to these articles:

Copy link What is the parliament of Cyprus called?

Copy link What is the area of a trapezium whose parallel sides are 6 cm and 4 cm long, and the distance between them is 10 cm?

Copy link Who is the Current Federal Minister of Defence?

Copy link NIPA stands for?

Copy link April 2023 Pakistan Current Affairs MCQs in Pdf download

Copy link What is the opposite of the word "SLUMBROUS"?

Copy link As \_\_\_\_ me, I will be happy \_\_\_\_ lend a hand.

Copy link Who was the first governor of Balochistan?

Copy link What country's parliament is known as the Oireachtas?

Copy link The political system needs to be \_\_\_\_\_ through further devolution.