

Someone who has an external locus of control is likely to have a

Someone who has an external locus of control is likely to have a

- A. positive self-concept.
- B. high sense of self-efficacy.
- C. strong libido.
- D. belief in luck.