

The civil services of Pakistan have become a caste by themselves involving public criticism such as?

The civil services of Pakistan have become a caste by themselves involving public criticism such as?

- A. They are legacies of British colonial rule
- B. They have lowered the quality of national life.
- C. They have bred corruption and inefficiencies.
- D. They have become professionally incompetent.