

The highest temperature at which a substance can exist as a liquid is called its

The highest temperature at which a substance can exist as a liquid is called its

- A. Critical temperature
- B. Standard temperature
- C. Absolute temperature
- D. Upper consolute temperature

Show Answer...

Correct Answer: A. Critical temperature