

To help combat selective perception, a manager should?

To help combat selective perception, a manager should?

- A. View the situation as others view it
- B. Give more performance feedback to subordinates
- C. Spend more time helping subordinates learn job skills
- D. Gather additional opinions about a situation from others