

Who built Faiz Mahal?

- A. Ghulam Shah Kalhoro
- B. Mir Sohrab Talpur
- C. Jahangir
- D. Humayun

Show Answer...

Correct Answer: B (Mir Sohrab Talpur)

Explanation:

Faiz Mahal is a historical palace located in Khairpur, Sindh, Pakistan. It was built by Mir Sohrab Khan in 1798 as the principal building serving as the sovereign's court for the royal palace complex of Talpur monarchs of the Khairpur dynasty. He was a prominent figure in the history of Sindh. He was a poet, a philosopher, and a patron of the arts. During his reign, he built several magnificent structures, including the Faiz Mahal, which served as his residence.

History of Faiz Mahal

The construction of Faiz Mahal was started in 1798 and completed in 1812. The palace was built using local red bricks and decorated with intricate blue tile work. The interior of the palace features beautiful frescoes, mirror work, and colorful glasswork.

Today, Faiz Mahal is a popular tourist attraction and a symbol of the rich cultural heritage of Sindh. The palace has been restored and preserved by the government of Sindh, and it is open to visitors who want to experience the beauty and grandeur of this magnificent structure.

Conclusion

Faiz Mahal is an architectural masterpiece that showcases the rich history and culture of Sindh. Built by Mir Sohrab Talpur, the palace is a beautiful blend of different architectural styles and features intricate artwork and decoration.

Who built Faiz Mahal?

Today, Faiz Mahal stands as a testament to the creativity and skill of the craftsmen of Sindh and is a must-visit destination for anyone interested in history and architecture.